THE EVENT

The 76th running of the MARS Badminton Horse Trials will take place at the infamous venue of the Badminton Estate in South Gloucestershire (home of The Duke and Duchess of Beaufort). Badminton is the home of the longest running Horse Trials in Great Britain, attracts the very best equine and human athletes and offers visitors a great time for all the family (including dogs!).

The week comprises of both the International and Grassroots events.

Badminton International is one of the most exciting equestrian events – arguably the pinnacle of the worldwide horse trials calendar. The Event is 5 star, the highest grade and one of only 7 such events in the world. Both horses and athletes must qualify in order to compete at Badminton. On the Wednesday horses must pass the First Horse inspection to prove they are fit to compete. The competition then takes place over the following 4 days, each day consisting of a different discipline. The dressage is spread over 2 days (Thursday and Friday) in order to accommodate all the entries. When taking part in this phase, athletes must demonstrate their horse's obedience, discipline, accuracy and elegance. On day 3 (Saturday) they need to prove their horse's fitness, athleticism and stamina by tackling the cross-country course, jumping solid man-made and natural obstacles within a set time. Finally, on day 4 (Sunday), a course of show jumps designed to test the horse's agility and accuracy again with a given time to demonstrate soundness and the ability to recover.

The order of starting is the same for the dressage and cross-country test and will be fixed by draw. On the last day competitors will be required to jump in reverse order of the placings after the cross-country phase.

The LeMieux Grassroots Championships is the finals for the British Eventing 100 and 90 horses and riders. These Championships also include dressage, show jumping and cross-country phases, all of which are completed on Wednesday 7th May.

The Dubarry Burghley Young Event Horse Class, also held on Wednesday 7th May is for up and coming young horses, which will potentially make word-class eventers.

There are great hospitality options and the variety and quantity of fabulous food and drink on offer throughout the event means you will never go hungry whatever your taste or budget. From scrummy food on the go to sit down luncheons, picnic bites and artisan delights to top up your picnic. You can be sure to sample the very best of Gloucestershire's gastronomy and hospitality on your visit.

The large shopping village, which houses a large number of exhibitors, is one of the many highlights of the event each year, attracting a huge collection of many well known brands, from equestrian, food, fashion and lifestyle brands offering any discerning shopper plenty to choose from.

See Provisional Programme for details of the International, Grassroots and other events taking place over the 5 days.

Charity of the Year

Every day, 250 people in the UK start to lose their sight. Guide Dogs is here to ensure they don't lose their freedom as well. Their expert staff, volunteers and life-changing dogs help people with sight loss live actively, independently and well. Guide Dogs CEO Andrew Lennox said: "Visitors to Badminton understand how powerful the partnership between animals and humans can be. Our services help thousands of people with sight loss to lead confident, independent and fulfilling lives, and the money raised at Badminton will help fund our life-changing work. We look forward to meeting people at our stand, where they can hear from some of our inspirational guide dog owners, as well as the volunteers and staff who help raise and train our amazing dogs.
